
Claude Olney is one of America's best known educators and seminar leaders. He has taught hundreds of thousands of students how to get better grades in both high school and college. Now he brings you his latest seminar for college students.

Where There's a Will There's an "A" teaches students how to excel in college in an easy-to-follow step-by-step program.

You will learn the same successful methods that top students use to master reading, test taking, memory, writing, languages, registration techniques and graduate admission tests.

Professor Olney was recently honored as undergraduate professor of the year in the College of Business at Arizona State University where he has taught for twenty-two years.

Professor Olney's grade school and high school seminars are also available from Chesterbrook Educational Publishers.
